The market building was to-day elaborately decorated with flags, banners, &c., and present a bandsome appearance on the

on of the relebration.
If of the buildings in the city have been ady decorated and the streets present a holiday evening telegraphed that they will be here to-morrow and take part in the parade. The Chief Marshal requests all who wish to act as marshals and who are mounted, to meet him on Washington street to-morrow morning, wear-ing the sashes.

THE FARMERS' CONVENTION-The annua! this morning with the president, O. E. Hine, this morning with the president, O. E. Hine, in the chair, A large number of farmers and their wives, together with a number of distinguished visitors were present. The first business in order was the election of officers for the year, which resulted in the re-election of the following: O. E. Hine, president, N. W. Pierson and Isaiah Brady, vice-presidents; Jas. W. Roberts, treasurer and W. Gillingbam and R. W. Walker, secretaries. retaries

Mr. H. H. Garrett then read an interesting essay on the subject, "To what extent can farmers successfully co operate?" After the reading of the essay the subject was discussed by Col. R. Beverley, Mr. E. E. Mason and Dr. R. B. Farquhar, who gave their views.

The second essay was, "Can farmers afford to build good public roads?" This was read by Mr. Job Hawxhurst, and discussed by Messrs. Avery, Lukens, Shawen, Greenhough, Green and Mooney.

The third essay was read by Mr. W. A. Sherman, whose subject was, "Are there sufficient reasons for our young men to remain farmers?" This subject was discussed by Mr. C. Lukens and Commissioner of Agricultural Loring, whose remarks were attentatively listened to.

The convention then took a recess for

After recess an essay, "Do farmers suffer more in time of business depression than persons engaged in other business?" pre-pared by Mr. Wm Williams, was read by Secretary Walker and discussed by Col. Beverley and others.

A resolution was then adopted urging the members of the legislature to pass the of apparatus which appear in the procession bills now before that body known as the commerce bill, the equalization tax bill and the immigration bili.

The convention was in session when this report closed, but will adjourn this evening. THE COUNTY CUTTING CASE .-- Commonwealth's attorney J. E. Clements, of Alexau-dria county, yesterday continued his in vestigations in the case of John A. Mills, who was found with his throat gashed in the woods near Ball's Cross Roads. Mr. Clements has had a warrant issued describing the parties as best he could and charging felonious assault and robbery and has placed the warrant in the bands of the sheriff. It is believed by some that the blade found was the property of Mills bim self; no footprints other than his own were found at the place, and no evi dence has been discovered to substantiate the theory of assault and attempted murder. These facts, taken in connection with the old man's refusal to make an affidavir, have led to the belief that Mr. Mills attempted to commit suicide.

CORPORATION COURT.—Judge N. B. Meade presiding.—B. Lambdin vs. Mary J. Lambdin, suit for divorce; bill dismissed at com plainant's cost.

Chief Marshal Windsor said he had by way of the bath room window, through which he escaped. Mrs. Robinson was asleep in the room with her grand-daughter when she was aroused by the noise made

LOST RECORDS FOUND .- Soon after Mr. H. H. Young had been appointed clerk of the County Court be discovered that the records of the Orphan's Court of the county for the years 1842 to 1847 were m'ssing. Search was made for the missing records but they could not be found, and their loss occasioned much inconvenience. A few days ago, however, Mr. Young, while in the basement of the Court House, found the missing folio partially submerged in water and lying under a plank in a most dilapi-dated condition. He carefully dried it, and with great pains has restored it to almost as good condition as it was ever in. The book is a valuable record and contains many entries of interest.

PROPERTY TRANSFERS .- Since the first of the month twelve transfers of real estate in the county have been made by Mr. Young, clerk of the County Court, the value of the property being $114,000.
